THE COLON THEATRE.

If the shipping of poor Jumbo, the familiar elephant of the 'Zoo,' to the great United States has touched the sympathetic chords of London 'haut ton,' how much ruder is the shock caused by the closing of Colon to the most cherished feelings of Buenos Aires High Life? We live in the age of eternal change; events that the wisest of us never dreamt of come to pass, and Colon, whose hallowed name embosoms scenes too beautiful to last, is now on its last legs; and if Lord Mayor Alvear carries out his programme, before the year is out it will be transmogrified into an official Bolsa.

On Monday night, when most of the citizens of Buenos Aires were going to bed, the fate of Colon was decided in the lighted-up saloons of the Municipality. The glare and blaze of gas was such that, as we took our seat alongside Dr Parody, it seemed to be a species of lyric wake that we were summoned to, with Mr Ferrari as chief mourner. The service on the occasion was read by Dr Belaustegui, who stated the case that the contract expires on 25th April 1882; the Colon shareholders refuse to sell the building at any price to the Municipality, and on that day had, through their lawyer, Dr Pellegrini, taken an action against the Municipality, and demanded of the Court a renewal of the lease. Mr Wals, the informing member of the Hacienda committee, explained everything and how there was nothing for it but a lawsuit, since the Colon people denied the right of the Municipality to purchase the building at a valuation. Mr Legarete offered some well-timed remarks on the duty of the Board to avoid all lawsuits, and to seek by some friendly means to come to terms with the shareholders, either by selling to them the site or renting it to them for a number of years at a reasonable rent; he considered the site might be worth say 15 millions, and the shareholders, he had no doubt, would be willing to pay a fair rent; at all events steps should be taken to avoid a lawsuit.

Mr Mulhall fully concurred with his colleague and considered that the Municipality was bound to take every step to avoid a lawsuit: nothing could be more disagreeable than such a lawsuit. All the ladies of Buenos Aires would side with the Colon shareholders, and there would not be a welcome for the Lord Mayor or a single member of the Municipal board in any drawing room in this city, if they shut up the dear old Colon. Mr M. proposed that they might extend the lease for a month, to see what terms could finally be arrived at. He for one did not blame the shareholders for refusing to sell the theatre to the Municipality, but blamed the Hacienda committee for allowing a year nearly to run over without looking for the funds to pay for the theatre. If the shareholders refused to sell, he believed and had the courage to say it, that it was because the coupons of the Municipal Bonds were so long unpaid, and, possibly, the Colon shareholders thought, if they bought the theatre, they would pay them in Bonos Municipales.

The President rang the bell and called Mr M. to order.

Mr Iturriaga said there was nothing for it but to follow out the terms of the contract. The lease of the Variedades Theatre, after 15 years, expired the other day; they took out the seats, furniture, scenery, pulleys and beams, and handed the place over to Mr Lezama, the owner of the site. Now, in the case of Colon, the shareholders never paid a brass farthing rent; they had the site for a quarter of a century free and wanted it now for another 100 years on the same terms; but dont they wish they may get it? The ground is municipal, and the Colon people must turn out, and he called upon his colleagues to settle the question once and for ever this night. Dr Belaustegui explained that they had only 2 days, and if in the interim they lost time in trying to come to some arrangement, the Municipality would lose its summary jurisdiction right on the contract.

The Lord Mayor put the matter to the vote, whether the board should execute the lease or not—carried in the affirmative 10 to 1.

RIGHTS OF FOREIGNERS.

The Volpi-Patroni incident in Montevideo has given rise to an enormous mass of discussion apart from the intrinsic horrors of the case in its criminal phase. The crime itself is being lost sight of in the whirlwind of diplomatic and political passions that have emanated from it. That the Oriental Government is directly culpable is beyond all discussion, for no respectable government would have, amongst its subordinates the hordes of fellows that have surrounded the administrations of Latorre and Santos. We cannot help recognizing a certain right of the opposition press in Montevideo to use the arm the Government itself has placed in their hands, although we would deprecate, with the 'Republica', the use of the same arm by the opposition press of this country. This is however only a prefatory remark to what we wish to say in answer to some observations of the 'Republica', in an editorial on the above subject. Our contemporary is angry that foreigners should interfere in the internal affairs of the country. He says, 'we are far from recognising the right of foreigners to any other kind of justice than that enjoyed by Argentines; they live under the dominion of the same laws.' This phrase would be just and equitable enunciated in England and her dependencies; but we cannot help reminding our worthy colleague that when applied to such countries as Uruguay, and we may as well be frank, and this Republic, the words are meaningless. Foreigners will not put up with a great deal of the 'justice' of these countries. Of course this means the administration of justice. If our colleague had said that foreigners are amenable to the laws of the country, no exception could be made to his phraseology; but he was unhappy in using the word justice. This word is invoked by every petty camp despot; by every revolutionist, by arbitrary provincial governments; by cruel military chiefs for their misdeeds; by the very torturers of Volpi and Patroni. Does the Republica imagine that foreigners are obliged to accept a spurious justice? If he does he is very much mistaken. If Consuls find themselves obliged to interfere to protect their countrymen from outrages committed under the guise of justice, they exercise a sacred international right. They do not go out of their natural sphere of commercial agents of their own good will. They are obliged to do so by the bad conduct of some authority of the land. Any Government has it in its power to enclose foreign consuls within the narrow limits of a notary, by so administering justice according to the laws of the country, that foreigners would have no right to complain. The governments in such a case need not fear any interference. Ministers and consuls would ask for nothing better than to live quietly and in good harmony with the authorities of the country they are accredited to. They will never dream of counselling their countrymen to evade the laws, however harsh they may be in some cases. But it becomes their duty to interfere when justice is not carried out in conformity with those laws, notwithstanding that that interference is naturally unpalatable to the natives of the country in which it is exercised. Every one agrees that the Montevidean affair outrages human nature, and that Santos has to be brought to account. If the theory is valid in great crimes it is equally valid in all cases of injustice. If a man rob a shilling he is equally a thief as the man who steals a guinea.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent)

March 23, 1882.

Jumbo has gone, and a good job too. He was becoming a superstition. The Salvation Army was powerless against him. The Earl of Shaftesbury, Canon Farrar, Mr. Spurgeon and others of the evangelical persuasion, seeing the danger of the people falling into idolatry, have subscribed and sent to Glasgow for Messrs. Moody and Sankey. The answer of these gentlemen has not yet been received.

Jumboism was demoralising to the young. You will have read of the dear little children who received from their mamma money enough to buy a wedding-cake for Jumbo, and who were possessed of the incipient business faculty to the extent of investing half in a cake for Jumbo and pocketing the difference. You will have also heard of the expensive wreath of greenhouse flowers a lady sent to the brute. But the funniest thing received by the authorities at the Zoological Gardens was a black crape dress for 'Alice. Before leaving Gravesend yesterday afternoon the Baroness Burdett-Coutts presented the elephant with a huge bag of buns. He was impolite enough to refuse them at her hands, but he took them from Scott his keeper. He left the London docks at half-past four in the morning, and even at that early hour there were two or three hundred people on the quay to see the 'Assyrian Monarch' leave. When last heard of, he was taking things very quietly and only complained, as everyone does the first night at sea, of the noises on deck. He will at this moment, 11 p.m., be nearing the Land's End and just dipping into it, as he catches the swell from a stiff northseaster that has been blowing all day. Well, as we mentally draw the curtain over Jumbo and this singular episode in English life and manners, we think of the text, 'the fool hath said in his heart there is no God.' Not such a fool either, for it is neither Jumbo nor Jove we worship in this country, but Woman, and not Venus, against whose worship one could find objections. Our three-faced female idol, whose temple is the nursery, represents a mother, a nurse and Mrs. Grundy, the last-named representing the active principle, destroying much that is natural and grand in our religion. To be kind to the lower animals, to love our children is well. To make a fuss about an elephant and fools of our children, because it is the fashion in boudoirs, is a discredit, and we are heartily sick and ashamed of it. Amongst the latest visitors before the 'Assyrian Monarch' left Gravesend was 'a strong contingent of officers of the Guards!' Perhaps before long these warriors will have something better to do. At present the rumour is of negotiations for the meeting of the Emperors of Russia and Austria; but all the accounts we receive of the state of political questions in Eastern Europe are so contradictory, not to say mendacious, it is useless to form an opinion as to what may occur. The utter madness of war between Germany and Russia is the apparent guarantee of peace, but history has proved that such guarantees are not reliable when national antipathies are excited; and, moreover, the position of affairs in Egypt is in the highest degree serious, and the Suez Canal is one of those material facts which affect the minds and pockets of Englishmen and might easily complicate matters, even if it did not prove the first cause of collision. 'Ireland's opportunity' might be nearer than we imagine; meanwhile English and Irish regiments are fighting in Galway. A serious riot has taken place between the 88th, the Old Connaught Rangers, and the 84th. Some misunderstanding has existed between the men since St. Patrick's Day, that is eight days ago, and what have the officers been doing not to have prevented so scandalous and, under present circumstances, so dangerous an outbreak? You may see in the papers of to-morrow more about it than we know to-day by telegram. The mob, of course, would have taken part with the 88th, a hundred of whom with sticks and belts only, attacked a picket of the 84th, who by orders of the sergeant charged them with the bayonet The 88th received the charge fearlessly, and in some instances wrenched the bayonets from the picket. The police kept the mob from interfering, and finally a reinforcement of the 84th under a lieutenant arrived and restored order, Whilst such things are going on Parliament, like a caucus of wrangling hags, are wasting time in motions, speeches and amendments in what the Times calls 'legislation by discussion,' but in reality in impeding legislation by vanities, jealousies and incompetence. Formerly the 'silly season' was when Parliament closed—we are now beginning to reckon the 'silly season' from the commencement of the Parliamentary gabble. Mr. Marriott's amendment to the Procedure Act may not be divided upon until this day week, and then there is Sir John Lubbock's amendment to be discussed and so on. We are sadly in want of a good stirring up. I fear nothing less than a war and two or three thrashings, not from Boers and Zulus, but European troops, will rid us of Redesdales and Newdegates, Wilfrid Lawsons and other well-meaning bores and impediments of still higher standing in their respective parties. What is happening in general politics has long happened in law business. The people submit to evils they know only vaguely by their slow and general effects. We lately had a Judicature Act intended to simplify and cheapen law. As everyone knows, the lawyers have already built up another technical system or barrier of technicalities the laymen cannot break through and have all to pay for. Appeals and applications at English law are becoming ludicrous. No one knows on what grounds applications are granted or refused. Look at the prizefighting appeal case at Ascot, the 'Referee' case for new trial, which will now go for appeal, and a variety of other too notorious suits. As for common law cases in 1880, of which the returns are just published, 2007 actions yielded less than £400,000, which sum will not pay counsel much less solicitors' fees; and what of the judicial staff? What waste! Lord Selbourne is bringiag in a new legal Procedure Bill to reform many things, but principally to reform off the face of the earth that palladium of British liberties, the jury in civil cases. No doubt, the verdicts of juries are sometimes most absurd and a great deal of money and time are wasted in hiring counsel to palaver them; but, for my part, I would sooner leave my case in the hands of 12 ignorant but well-meaning men than in the hands of a man like Lord Coleridge, who would judge me according to my station in life and religious tenets. If I am of a respectable family and go to church Lord Coleridge will take care of my case. If Mr. Justice Field tries my case, I must take care that he has never given an opinion on a similar case which had been reversed. He will never forgive that and will stick to his original ruling. As to Mr. Justice Hawkins, if I give him materials for 'summing up' and indulging in virtuous indignation, he will not mind the law of the case. You will think this attempt to soil the unspotted ermine of British justice as something little short of blasphemy. Mrs Grundy thinks with you; but those who know more about it will tell you different. The whole of our legal procedure is in a state of transition. Already the old etiquette of the English bar, once so sacred, is being pierced on all sides; and the bar is falling into a money-making mob, to be ultimately superseded by advocates from the ranks of solicitors. The bar is amongst many other old world institutions which are about to pass away. London in future will be less of a legal centre than it has been. Home rule is in the ascendant.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Not even at the Cove of Cork could a more deliciously 'soft' day than yesterday be experienced. The early morn breathed the incense of Spring and Summer rather than the freshness of Autumn, and the noon was equally enjoyable. It was, however, not the weather the sheep farmers are sighing for; they would sooner have a week's deluge of rain.

We have been requested by the Committee of the 'Gervasio Mendez Fund' to open a list at our office to receive subscriptions, and we comply with great pleasure. The distinguished but unfortunate poet is in great distress, and none who have read his works will refuse to assist him in the hour of his need.

The row in the Municipality on Monday about the Colon Theatre could only be compared to the House of Commons on an 'obstruction' night. The excitement in fashionable 'salons' is something tremendous. What will High Life do if Colon remains shut up for 20 years, as the lawsuit, once begun, is likely enough to last for that time.

The cutter Monte Leon sails today for Chubut. The Commissary, the National School teacher, and the engineer to make the dam etc. go in her. The Welshmen will be glad to see her off their port, and we wish her a safe and quick passage.

Madame Gualtieri Pezzana was kind enough to invite some of her admirers on Monday night to one of those charming converzaziones to which custom appears to have given root at the Politeama. It would be superfluous to add that the attendance was both numerous and select. The object of the reunion was to explain the views as to the interpretation of Shakespeare's Hamlet entertained by this great artiste who considers that it requires more heart than art to do justice to the character. Madame Pezzana's speech was long and eloquent, full of sentiment eulogizing 'con amore' the beautiful works of our immortal poet. There is no doubt that the performance to-night at the Politeama will be one which no Englishman should fail to go and see. Madame Pezzana takes the part of Hamlet, but it is not the first time that it has been performed by a lady. The hostess wore one of the most elegant dresses it is possible to imagine, a dress which would be an ornament to the Exhibition, and wore it with a grace and elegance which only such a distinguished actress possesses, but we must remember that a beautiful picture always deserves an elegant frame. Mad. Diligente, who is a remarkably handsome young lady, recited a most stirring piece which delighted the audience, after which the Company sat down to a sumptuous supper where 'la gaiete' reigned supreme. The critique of the performance of to-night must be written by some abler pen than that of

In the heat of the Municipal debate on Monday night, about the Colon Theatre, the clock struck twelve! There was nothing very singular in a clock striking twelve, or any other hour, but the clock that struck is the greatest curiosity in Buenos Aires and is to be sent to the Exhibition. The Municipales jumped from their seats and cloustered round the clock. The Lord Mayor explained its history. It is 72 years old, was made in Dublin, and has never gone out of order in all those years. As all the Standard readers by this time understand Latin thoroughly, it is superfluous to translate for them the following inscription on this wonderful Irish clock:—

"Gratoe sanctos erga. Bare Bones. Apud Buenos Aires, Recordationis. Multa propter et magna Eorum. Benefici Proclarumque in seipsos et saucias. Benignitatem. Hoc munus parvum Horologium. Gratia haud parva. Septuagésima prima Legio Britannica. Una voce. Tribuit atque dicat. Die Aprilis 2 et Annus 1809."

Alderman Parody read this inscription with the most perfect Roman pronunciation of the Latin, and then a general call was made on him to translate it. He got on beautifully till he came to the word 'Bare-Bones,' when he confessed that although he was forty years in this country, he had never heard of such a word before. One member suggested that it meant 'huesos pelados;' another said that it referred to the famous Praise-God Barebones of Cromwell's time; another said something else; finally the word was skipped by general consent, but all the members of the Municipality confessed yesterday morning that they had dreamt of nothing but skeletons all night.

We forgot to mention yesterday for the information of all our juvenile readers, from 5 to 50 years of age, that the last we learn of their friend Jumbo is, that on going on board the Assyrian Monarch he trumpeted forth the plaintive notes of "Alice where art thou?" Before he left the 'Zoo' he and Alice sang the beautiful duo from Lucia de Lammermoor 'When rolling waves divide us', the fashionable assemblage being moved to tears, one of the officers of the "Gwenadeaw Gawds" declaring that 'Thims Weeves' could not sing his pawt of it 'bettaw'. After this we decline to report another word about Jumbo, who by this time is delighting juvenile New York. Some say that Barnum paid indirectly for all or most of the foolery in the English papers about the elephant. Possible but not probable.

The Rev. James W. Fleming will preach on Sunday next at 4.30 p.m. at Quilmes, in the house of Mr Robert Clark.

The ladies of the Beneficencia Society deserve much credit for their latest project, viz. to open a Night Asylum where the very poor who sleep in the open air wherever they can find a corner, may have shelter for the night. The poor of this class here are generally vagabonds of the worst water, and this is the only objection to the humane proposal on foot.

We hear of a remarkable effect of the Exhibition. All the 'almaceneros', 'confiteros', cafe men, etc in the centre of the city say that their business has fallen off considerably since the Show was opened in Plaza Once. This is singular, as these are the very establishments one would expect to benefit most by an influx of strangers. Things always go by contraries in the River Plate.

A line of steamers from New Orleans to Buenos Aires is on the tapis, not here, but in Porkopolis (Cincinnati). Tell this to the pigs. So long as the United States persist in keeping their present suicidal shipping laws on their Statute book, they can never enter the foreign steam shipping trade with the remotest chance of success.

There were 8900 people, big and little, at the Exhibition on Sunday, a few less than on the previous 'Domingo.'

Our colleague El Fomento de la Boca praises the Gas Company at Barracas greatly for giving sand earth and 'carbonilla' gratis to mend the roads down there. It is precious seldom that anything is to be got gratis now-a days, and the Gas Company may well receive thanks for its public spirit.

The telegrams from Montevideo say that Baron Cova wont bother his head any more about the Volpi and Patroni affair, which may now be considered as at an end, to the great joy of the public.

The exhibitors at Plaza Once getting more liberal than ever. Coffee, beer, biscuits, cold-cream soap, etc, etc etc, are going for nothing every day in the week. On Sunday next the Cattle Show will be opened.

What on earth is the meaning of the police stopping the tramway traffic in front of the Colon Theatre just before the opera finishes? Are the whole public to be inconvenienced for the few 'swells' that go to the opera? The Buenos Aires police, we regret to say it, have a lot of these silly tricks on hand for all public occasions, great and small, the result being invariably great annoyance, inconvenience and loss of time to the public. Mr Paz should send to London, Paris, or New York for an officer to teach his subordinates the rudiments of dealing with street traffic from a police point of view.

For the first time since the Pedagoques met, there was 'no quorum' on Monday. Getting tired already?

Congress will be opened by President Roca on Monday next. The first preparatory session of the Deputies is held to-day.

No London student for the Bar has ever 'eaten so many dinners' as the Governor of this province; his term of office has been marked by banquets, and for six months before he entered, he had to attend at least three public dinners a week. H.E. must have a cast-iron liver. He has been banqueting ever since he left town, and now another feed is being prepared for him on May Day.

The 'divino Stagno' is amongst the operatic artists coming out for the Teatro Nacional, and who will be here on May 16th. Too much opera.

We perceive with great pleasure that our young friend Mr Edward Holmberg, the already eminent Argentine naturalist, has been selected by the 'Circulo Medico Argentine' to deliver a special funeral oration in honour of Darwin's memory. We feel certain that Mr H. will discharge this high trust with 'eclat.'

There was a mild 'incident' on Monday in the Exhibition between two pedagogues, but neither was seriously damaged. 'Incidents' are getting to be 'la moda' all over the world. In the South Carolina Legislature last month the President had his skull 'incidented' with a blackthorn stick by a furious Deputy or Senator, we forget which.

The approaching resignation of the Chief of Police is announced; also a far more interesting affair in which he plays the 'protagonista'—viz, his marriage with Miss Victorica, daughter of the Minister of War. We tender our congratulations to Mr Paz on the approachign happy event.

The Special Committee of the Provincial Deputies reported yesterday in favour of the new capital at Tolosa. Oh, h h h h h o o!

There are, as we said yesterday, far too many lotteries now running in this country. The contagion is spreading so fast that women and girls now go about selling lottery tickets, and it is far harder to get rid of one of them than of a dozen men or boys. Yesterday a fair damsel visited Printing House Square, and all but kissed us all round to induce us to buy tickets. As she was ugly as sin, however, she went away as she came, nearly all our staff having as keen an eye for beauty as Oscar Wilde himself.

| Do E | 84½ |
| National Bank Shares | 109 |
| Roads and Bridges | 101 |

This was rather a quiet day on Change, and although we are approaching the end of the month, when the liquidation will be tremendous, still the business of the day was as small as at the beginning of the month. The secret of all this is that one party appears to have taken the whole market on his back, and the weight is a pretty heavy one, but all the Bolsa is for a rise, and spite of the great exertions of the king bear, prices closed firm at 109. The Share market opened this morning at 109 cash at which rate 380 shares sold in small lots. For the end of the month 2,800 shares sold, opening at 109, dropping to 108½ and closing at 109. For the end of May 1,550 sold, opening at 111, falling to 110½ and closing at 111.

In Cedulas Series A there is a drop of ½ and one sale cash at 100½, but for end of month prices are firm at 101. Series E firm at 84½.

Roads and Bridges stock, one sale at 101. Other stocks offering in the market but nothing done.

Gold asked for to-day and many buyers, several sales effected at from 2½ cents to 5 cents premium.

There was great talk on 'Change about Sr. Rodriguez's project read last night in the Municipality to pay off the over due coupons of the Municipal Bonds; the project runs so:

Art. 1—Let the interest account overdue on Municipal Bonds be at once liquidated.

Art. 2—To the holders of these Bonds the Municipality shall deliver additional Bonds 6 o/o with 1 o/o amortization.

Art. 3—Let the service on the Bonds begin from May 1st, 1882.

Art. 4—Application to be made to the National Executive for funds to meet the service of said Bonds in accordance with the Budget.

C. Rodriguez Larreta.

Most of the Municipal bondholders on 'Change to-day object to this proposed scheme of paying off the coupons and insist on getting their money. The subject of these unpaid coupons is so unpleasant that we dislike to treat on it, but we welcome Mr Rodrigues's measure as better than nothing. The Lord Mayor insists that it is the Provincial Government of Buenos Aires that owes this debt.

The news from upstairs, that is to say the Bolsa Camara Syndical, is the appointment of following Committees:—

For Exchange—
Mr Becu
Mr Casenave
Mr Schlieper

For Produce—
Mr Rossignol
Mr Balcarce
Mr Ellerhorst
Mr Velardo

For Freights—
Mr Woodgate
Mr Green
Mr Delfino

Mr A G Zemborain has been re-admitted on the Bolsa and Mr Henry Martinez marked out. Messrs E Bollondo and L Laplane new brokers, and J Mothes and L Maganini ask to be admitted as members.

We may correct our colleague, the Pampa, respecting the failure of Luis Falcon, Antwerp; the statement has come out from Europe, showing assets 7½ million francs; liabilities 5 million francs; of the assets, however, we should say only about 2½ millions realisable.

Large arrivals of wheat from up the rivers are now reported. The Campana steamers bring down every trip large consignments.

At the Municipality last night there was a discussion about the Central Station, as a project is laid before the Board for its removal. Many members of the Board expressed great doubt as to the power of the Board to order the removal; the question will come up in a more formal manner in a few days. The goods sheds of the Catalinas Molo erected in the street will also have to pay rent to the Municipality for the site, as Mr Alvear is going to move in the matter.

Sr. Don Felix Pico, the well known broker, has just sold 4 leagues of land at Olavarria at the rate of 300,000 m/c per league.

They are offering sheep for sale at Ramallo at a valuation of $18 m/c, which seems very low.

Gold—
For cash 13,000 25.05

Cedulas—
For cash A 3,000 at 100½
For cash E 1,000 at 84½
For April 30th A 40,000 101
For April 30th E 5,000 at 84½
Sales, 49,000.

Nat. Bank Shares—

For April 30th 2,800 shares 109-108¾-½-109
For May 31st 1,850 shares 111-110½-½-½-111
Sales, 4,130.

Roads and Bridges—
For cash 2,000 at 101

This was a 'Hoch sollen sie leben' day in town, and the Mole Head was a piece of Fatherland; such a departure of Germans we never before witnessed, and all in the best spirits and looking forward to a pleasant trip and a speedy return next Spring. Amongst the crowd of Germans who thronged the Mole perhaps the most conspicuous was our old friend Mr Sommers, he great city hatter; we believe, could a scrutiny of the hats on the Mole have been made, 4/5ths of them were from Sommer's depot in Calle Rivadavia. Mr S. leaves with the view of supplying this market with the newest spring style of hat in Paris, Hamburg, London and Dublin; the wonder is that he does not go to Glasgow, but Sommers says the Scotch hats don't sell here, too much of the Clyde felt for the Portenos. The list of passengers by the German steamer sailing to-day we have already given, over a 100 first class passengers; it is not often any of our steamers takes such a number of first class passengers.

The news from Antwerp about the auction seems to be better than expected, and although there is no great rise in prices, the sale of 11,000 bales out of 15,000 shows pretty clearly that the demand for the article exists; 30 per cent wools are now at 1.65, which is after all a very fair price.

The Villarino, after a detention of 7 days on the Rio Negro bar, got off yesterday and reached Bahia Blanca to-day; she leaves there on Thursday and may be expected on Saturday or Sunday.

The news from the camp is very bad, and farmers are looking out for new camps; the great fog last night and this morning will, however, improve the camp, and also bring us nearer to rain, according to the accepted belief of the farmers.

The land sold the other day in the partido Maipu near Dolores fetched $900,000 m/c per league, Messrs Baltar & Quesada we hear will soon sell a fine estancia in Tres Arroyos; the valuation seems very cheap, $31,000 m/c per league.

A small estancia in Zarate, alongside Las Palmas, about half a league of land with bañado and frontage on the Parana, sold at auction for 1,400,000 m/c. Mr Latorre buyer.

Messrs. Roberts, Pritchard of Boston, Dr. Kimball and family and Mrs Bagley and family, all left to-day by the Boca for the Hipparchus en route for the U. States. We hope to see them soon back.

At afterhours there was first a dead pause then a sudden jump in the market; buyers for end of month and end of May offering on all sides; about 500 shares sold for end of month at from 109¼ upwards, closing last sale at 110½ buyers, and for May about 300 sold at 112 closing also buyers; at 5 o'clock the market shut with a strong upward tendency, and those who command the market can now make as much on the rise as they have already made on the fall.

There will be a special Cabinet meeting tomorrow at the Nat. Government House to consider the question of the 9 per cent Treasury Bill holders. We hear that Dr Romero will send a message to Congress, asking for power to pay the whole debt off at par. The protest handed the Minister by Mr Forrester has been sent to the Attorney General.

The Rubens has arrived with 1100 tons for here, and 600 tons for Rosario; she loads for Antwerp and Liverpool, and sails on 5th proximo.

Exchange rules to-day at 49½-½, and on Paris 5.17-19.

The Camara of the Bolsa decided to-day to allow another Montevidean stock quotation on the Bolsa, the new stock is called Deuda Consolidada de 1880. As yet nothing done here in the stock to make quotation.

The sale of 115 pipes potro grease at 40 m/c reported.

At the Plaza Once a large lot of wool in to Messrs Duggan, some 3000 arr. fine wool, 100 asked, not yet sold.

Freights for steamers very flat, but for sailing vessels high; we heard of salted hide engagements for sailing vessel to-day at 42s 6d and 5 per cent.

They say on 'Change now that the last wool clip exceeds the previous one by from 35 to 40,000 bales, and that there is still a stock of wool out in the camp of a million of arrobas which has to come to market yet.

President Roca resumed office to-day, his departments now, owing to the repairs going on at the Government House, are on the top of the Post Office.

General Osborne, U. S. Minister, had a long interview yesterday with the Minister of Foreign Affairs, about a subvention to an American line of steamers.

The Bank discounted yesterday 5 millions, and a large sum to-day taken up on Bank shares at 12 p. cent.

On Tuesday will be 'juicio verbal' and evidence taken about the Canepa land auction of Baltar and Quesada.

A steam launch being tugged by the s.s. Estrella the other day foundered and is a total loss, valued at 100,000 m/c.

Our Boca correspondent gives the following—

"Low tides these last few days, Sarmiente and other vessels waiting for water to haul out.

"River stinking as usual, and plenty of the finny tribe floating about promiscuously.

Mr C S Roberts, Dr Webster and family, and others were enveloped in fireside who accompanied them to Boca to-day, where a special boat was in readiness to take the home seekers to the big packet.

The day was delightful, and the sailout must have been delightful; a genial warmth, and not a ripple on the water. "Bon voyage."

The sales at afterhours were—

Nothing done.
Cedulas—
For April 30th E seller at 84½
National Bank Shares—
For April 30th 300 shares 109½-110½ buyers

The mails from England bring the following about the wool market:—

"This has been another very quiet week in London for English wool. The finest classes are in moderate request, but half-bred fleeces and strong skin wools are entirely neglected.

"The first series of sales will close on the 31st inst., and the second series for the year will commence on the 16th May.

"Messrs Charles Balme & Co.'s report mentions that during the past fortnight the harder tendency of the market for wools of good sound combing type has been confirmed, and in some instances somewhat enhanced, while as regards descriptions of less recognised excellence, competition has shown occasionally some slight degree of irregularity. The yield of many of the medium and lower grades of greasy produce, which, though light in appearance, exhibit this season a considerable proportion of rather open, lean, and not infrequently tender, staple, appears to be regarded somewhat less confidently by foreign consumers, and the opening rates of the series for such classes have not in all cases latterly been fully maintained. Medium and coarse crossbreds, in sympathy with the extremely low quotations ruling for English fleeces, and the continued depression of the special departments of industry upon which they depend for their value, remain more or less neglected; nor are the current rates for lambs' wool uniformly quite up to the best of the series. In Cape and Natal wools there is no substantial change to note. Variations between sale and sale are periodically observable, but, on the whole, the prices of the first week of the auctions approximately hold good, the medium and lower classes of scoured alone showing at times occasional weakness. Though the anticipations of the development of business, which were entertained at the opening of the year, have not, so far, been realised, the actual scale of consumption both abroad, and in the home districts is large and apparently healthy, and taken in connection with the limitation in the Australasian supplies of raw material, which appear to have been seriously affected by prolonged drought, promises a firm market as the season progresses.

"From Liverpool Messrs Ronald, Sons & Co. write to us:—The chief event of the week in this market has been the second series of East India wool auctions for this year, at which, of 13,469 bales offered, about 12,800 bales have changed hands. There has been a good attendance of buyers, but with only moderately active competition. Prices all round show little variation from January, any irregularity in favor of buyers being mainly on inferior sorts. Nothing of moment has been passing in miscellaneous descriptions by private contract, but 12,750 bales have been announced for next week's public sales here.

"Our Bradford correspondent reports:—The week past has been very uneventful. Trade has continued to drag, and a feeling of depression has prevailed. No one seems to expect much fall in values, because they are already so extremely low, and, therefore, if holders of wool become timid or needy, they can generally find a buyer who is willing to relieve them at a fraction under market rates; and yet there is no firmness, and not sufficient confidence to induce users to operate in advance of their needs. Fine wools, sympathising with Botany, keep their value the best; bright haired, strong descriptions the worst. Even Botany wools are ruling cheaper in Bradford than at the London sales. In yarns for export business is also very slow. A little more was perhaps done on Thursday, because spinners are beginning to give way as their need of orders increases, and accept the low offers made. In pieces the same dulness is evidenced. The failure this week of a large and once wealthy manufacturing firm, from no other cause than continued depression of trade, is not a cheering circumstance."

B. Aires 6 o/o Sterling Loan for £2,049,200.

Messrs Baring Brothers & Co. are authorized by Sr Don Faustino Jorge, duly empowered for that purpose by the Government of the Province of B. GILLARD'S

SANDRINGHAM
TESTIMONIALS.

From Mr. John J. Mahon, Capilla del Señor, June 29, 1881.—"The dip which you sent me I used according to directions, which you can assure you that it gave the desired result. During four years of practical experience of curing scab in sheep, I have seen many specifics used, and I consider Gilliard's the only one that gives complete satisfaction. It improves the quality and promotes the growth of the wool. For efficiency, economy and facility of application, I prefer it to any dip I have used.

From Mr. James M. Thomas, Estancia Santa Ines, Monte, June 29, 1881.—Having given a good trial to Gilliard's Dip, I have much pleasure in bearing my testimony to its valuable quality as a Sheep Dip. It destroys all insect life with which sheep are infected, mixes readily in cold water, does not injure the hands, and softens all hard parts. I shall strongly recommend it whenever an opportunity offers. As regards the cheapness, it should command a good sale.

From Mr. Wm. Petty, Estancia Caro, Colonia, Sept. 20, 1881—

"I feel great pleasure in informing you that the sheep dip supplied by you to me under the name of Gillard's Sheep Dip has had surprising results on my English long-woolled rams; it has kept them entirely free from scab after only twice using it, although those rams have been constantly running in a flock of scabby sheep. I intend for the first time to give it a trial with the whole of my English breed of sheep as soon as I have them shorn, as I feel satisfied I shall with that did keep scab out of the flock."

From Messrs. Patrick Mahon, junr., Ciriaco Morales, and James Murray, Capilla del Señor, Sept. 18, 1881—

"It gives us great pleasure to inform you that, after giving a good trial to Gillard's non-poisonous sheep dip, we can pronounce it to be the best specific we have used as yet, and we are fully determined for the future to use no other remedy."

THE FUNERAL OF MR. LONGFELLOW.

Cambridge, Mass, March 26th

The public and private evidences of grief at the death of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, if more modest, are scarcely less general than those which attended the death of President Garfield. A stranger might easily receive the impression that some one was lying dead in every house. Telegrams and letters of condolence have been delivered to the family from all over the world. They are, however, preserving the strictest privacy, and their wish being understood it has not been disturbed.

The obsequies to-day were unceremonious, almost informal. The first simple services were held by the family and relatives at Cragie House. Then the remains were taken to Appleton Chapel, Howard College, where an address was delivered by the Rev. Professor C. C. Everett. The Rev. Dr. F G Peabody assisted in the service, which concluded with prayer. The interment took place in the neighbouring Mount Auburn Cemetery, where thousands of people assembled.

New York

I am enabled to give you some further particulars respecting the last illness of Mr Longfellow, whose death the whole country is now mourning,

The death of Professor Agassiz, an intimate friend of Longfellow, gave him a shock from which he never fully recovered. During the next two years impaired digestion compelled him to live nearly exclusively upon a diet of bread and milk. He always retained a high degree of mental vigour, but his delicate health long gave his friends much anxiety. In consequence of this, during recent years, the Poet was almost a stranger to Boston society, and he very seldom gratified his taste for the theatre, but he did once attend during Rossi's recent engagement. Longfellow's last public appearance was in December, 1880,on the anniversary of the settlement of Cambridge, when he addressed an audience of school children. As one of his distinguishing traits was a fondness for children, the event now acquires a new and sad significance.

About three months ago one morning Longfellow found himself dizzy, unable to rise, and suffering from a pain in the top of the head. For a week he was unable to walk; the symptoms, however, gradually diminished, but neither the vertigo nor the pain entirely disappeared. He also experienced great loss of strength and of appetite. He accepted the situation, retreated to a private room, and refused all visitors, although he was the most accessible of American celebrities, and had never refused his autograph even to children and strangers. But now he acknowledged the receipt of letters on a printed form. His last birthday was passed quietly at home, despite numerous invitations to public celebrations of the day. On the 19th inst. the diarrhoea was disconnected from the previous symptoms, and checked, but it left an inflammatory condition of the bowels accompanied by difficult respiration. The probable cause was a chill felt while walking. The cold soon attacked a vital part, and in the evening the doctor was summoned. Between the paroxysms of vomiting and the intestinal pains the patient obtained some sleep by the aid of opiates. On Monday his sufferings increased. After a restless night, on Tuesday bronchitis developed, with a distressing cough, which was very painful all day. On Wednesday the intellect began to fail under the bodily strain; the mind sometimes wandered, but still faint hopes were entertained.Thursday was less distressing, and was spent mostly in a dull stupor. On Friday morning Longfellow greeted the doctor cheerfully, saying he had rested better. The doctor encouraged him, but it was evident that the last day for him had dawned. He talked but little, and seemed to realise his condition. The intervals of consciousness became briefer and more infrequent as the day advanced. He began to sink at two o'clock in the afternoon; and after this there was no rally. But there was also no struggle. With closed eyes, perhaps unconscious, and apparently without pain, the Poet gradually sank into the profounder rest, which became complete about three o'clock. As the breath became shorter the face more and more assumed the characteristic look of peace and quiet so familiar even to those least acquainted with him personally.

Grouped about the death-bed were his complete family circle—his daughters, Edith (Mrs. Richard H. Dana), Alice, and Annie; his sons, Ernest and Charles; his brothers, Samuel and Alexander, of Portland, Maine; his sisters, Mrs. James Greenleaf, of Cambridge, and Mrs. Pierce, of Portland; his brothers-in-law, Thomas G. Appleton, and Nathan Appleton, of Boston; Mrs. Ernest Longfellow, and Wordsworth and William P. Longfellow,nephews, of Portland. All the children of the Poet are adults.

According to the New England custom, the event was announced by seventy-five measured blows upon all the bells of the village. At Cambridge, where Cragie House is situated, Longfellow was universally loved as a friend and neighbour. Before sunset many houses displayed signs of mourning.

Outside Cambridge the event came as a surprise as complete as it was painful. In accordance with his frequently expressed wish, the Press had made no reference to his sickness. It thus happened that the same sheets which announced his death on Saturday morning brought to his admirers the grateful expressions of appreciation and sympathy by the representative press of England.

The New York Times says:—

'One day Longfellow was entertaining some visitors, when a thunderstorm came on. He began to fidget in his chair, presently excused himself, and was heard shutting the windows and peering generally to the safety of the house. On his return he said, as it to excuse his nervousness. 'The fact is, I hate everything that is violent,' a remark partly humorous, but which described what was probably the strongest characteristic of Longfellow's genius—namely, a hatred of noise, a disdain of excessive emotion, a love for what is gentle, and to be respected by wise men, a fondness for such noble things as may be secured without loss of dignity and without undue trouble. These were traits of Longfellow'.

The Sun says:—

"When we look back on the fundamental texture of the essential quality of this writer's work, we find in it nothing that is distinctly American. It never occurs to one to say of his performances, as we are compelled to say of Whittier's 'This or that verse could only have been penned by one born and bred in the atmosphere of New England.' Neither have Longfellow's productions a distinctively English flavour. Indeed it would be difficult to name any English poet of the same cast of temper whose mind reveals any affinities with his. Few men have been more catholic in their sympathies, more cosmopolitan in their range of study."

The truth of this observation best appears from the fact that his works include German translations, thirty-six; Dutch, two; Swedish five; Danish, two; French, eight; Italian, nine; Portuguese, four; Spanish, one; Polish, three; Russian, Latin, Hebrew, Chinese, and Sanskrit, one each. Throughout the notices, which are invariably kindly, there runs an unexpected thread of judicious criticism and judicial moderation. His limitations are distinctly recognised. Certainly the estimate of Longfellow in the American Press does not exceed that of the English.

Longfellow's last publication was 'Hermes Trismegistus,' in the February number of the Century. The next number of the Atlantic Monthly will contain a posthumous poem. In January, 1881, Longfellow's only (and unsuccessful) dramatic venture, the 'Masque of Pandora,' the music by Alfred Cellier, was produced at a Boston theatre after six months preparation under the personal supervision of Miss Blanche Roosvelt, who took the principal role. She frequently visited the author,and enjoyed his acquaintance to an exceptional degree; her reminiscences will soon be published. That Longfellow appealed to everyone—a remark very commonly made—is a truth attested by the fact that of 'Hiawatha' thirty thousand copies were sold within eighteen months. Within twenty years after the appearance of his first poem, ten years after 'Evangeline,' three hundred and twenty-five thousand copies had been sold of his various poems in collected editions.

COLONEL BURNABY'S BALLOON TRIP.

Paris, March 24.

The balloon Eclipse passed over Treport at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Colonel Burnaby appeared to be endeavouring to descend and signals were exchanged with him.

JUMBO AT THE DOCKS.

The elephant Jumbo is to be shipped upon the Assyrian Monarch tosday, and the vessel will probably sail for America early to-morrow morning. Yesterday at noon the Clarence barge, upon which the car had been placed, was tugged down the river to Millwall Docks amid much excitement. For two hours loud shouts of 'Jumbo' greeted the passing barge, till at length the valuable cargo was safely brought into the docks and hoisted out upon the wharf, where it remained, partially covered, for the night, with either Scot or Newman on the watch. The ship which will carry Jumbo also takes 600 emigrants to America, but careful measures have been taken that the passengers shall experience no annoyance on account of the elephant's presence on board.

The Central News says:—Jumbo passed a quiet night in his box on the South Quay, Millwall Docks, and has shown no such signs of restlessness as he exhibited during his transit. His keeper Scott has been on duty all night, and this doubtless contributed to the composure of the animal. Crowds surround the dock gates, anxious to obtain a view of the elephant, but police have been stationed to keep back all but those having business in the docks. The wounds on Jumbo's head are rapidly healing, and that he has seen the futility of struggling is apparent by the absence of any fresh injuries. The Assyrian Monarch comes alongside the quay soon after noon to take him on board.

IRISH MEMBERS AND THE COERCION ACT.

It is stated in some of the papers that it is probable that a number of the members of the Irish parliamentary party will go to Ireland during the Easter holidays in order to address their constituents. The question of the members of the party proceeding to Kingstown by steamer in a body will be discussed, and the arrangements, therefore settled at the next meeting of the party. The object of the movers in the matter is to put before the Government the issue of arresting those Irish members against whom warrants have been granted under the Coercion Act, and thereby preventing them from addressing their constituents. It is thought that should Messrs. Healy, Biggar, and A. O'Connor visit Dublin, the Government would arrest them and lodge them in Kilmainham.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne
(Ex Army Medical Staff)
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July 13th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5th 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London "Dear Sir, we embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly-esteemed medicine, Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a "deliberate breach of faith on the part of the chemist to prescriber and patient alike." We are, sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy,s Chemists."

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases."

CAUTION—None genuine without the words 'Dr J Collis Browne' on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
